PREFACE

The Campus Profile is designed to help faculty, staff, and students understand the college's diverse operations and make informed decisions. The publication is organized around the statewide accountability model. It is the intent of Research & Planning to incorporate accountability reports mandated by the federal and state governments into this annual publication, as such requirements develop.

This publication tends to focus on relatively short time periods, typically three years, in reporting information. In some cases, longer time periods are reported when deemed especially useful. We have made additions and deletions to the information presented each year and will continue to do so as we receive your feedback.

The Campus Profile is also intended to be a tool for evaluation and planning. As part of the college's master planning process, Key Performance Indicators (KPI's) have been identified. KPI's described in the Campus Profile are indicated by a key symbol:

Ŷ

See the appendix beginning on page 55 for a complete list of KPI's from the most recent approved educational master plan.

Additional information, including data from previous years, is available on the Research & Planning web site, located at http://research.glendale.edu. The web site includes most of the data available in the Campus Profile with extended historical data, and also includes additional features, including an enrollment history and reports available from Research & Planning.

In addition to the Campus Profile, Research & Planning provides an annually updated Institutional History for new staff members and for individuals seeking greater knowledge of the college's history. We look forward to your feedback regarding both publications.

1.01. Glendale Profile

1.01.01. Glendale Housing & Population

The 2000 United States Census indicated that Glendale's population grew in size and diversity from previous periods. However, growth in Glendale has slowed considerably. During the 1980s, Glendale's population grew by almost 30%, compared to 17% for Los Angeles County as a whole. During this decade, Glendale grew almost three times as quickly as Burbank and Pasadena, and almost twice as quickly as the city of Los Angeles. During the 1990s, however, Glendale grew by only 8.3%. The 1990 Census showed Glendale with 180,038 residents; the 2000 Census showed Glendale with 194,973 residents. Glendale's population is nearly 43% higher than that of Pasadena and 94% higher than that of Burbank.

Growth in the 1980s changed the city of Glendale in a qualitative way. Most of the growth occurred with the addition of multiple-family units (apartments and condominiums). Growth in the 1990s was driven by the addition of 1,500 housing units and a small increase in the average number of people in each household (from 2.59 to 2.64).

Glendale has become much more diverse in terms of ethnicity over the past 25 years. In 1980, 74% of Glendale residents were non-Hispanic Caucasians. By 1990, non-Hispanic Caucasians accounted for 53% of the population. In the 2000 Census, the percentage of non-Hispanic Caucasians remained approximately the same, 54%.

The following table shows the ethnic distribution of Glendale, according to the United States Census. The true magnitude of Glendale's diversity is camouflaged, as at least one-third of the Caucasian population of Glendale consists of immigrant Armenians. (Note that ethnicity reporting changed for the 2000 Census to separate race and Hispanic/Latino status. In the table all respondents indicating Hispanic/Latino status, regardless of race, are counted in the "Hispanic" category.)

1.02. Area School Information

1.02.01. Glendale Unified School District Demographics

The diversity of the Glendale Unified School District reflects the diversity of the community. About 70% of students in the school district are non-native English speakers. Students are classified as English Learners (EL) if they lack the English skills to succeed in the regular curriculum; they are classified as Fluent English Proficient (FEP) if they are non-native speakers but are proficient in English. As the graph below shows, about 30% of students in grade 12 are English Learners (i.e., not fluent in English).

The Glendale Unified School District has a higher percentage of non-native English speakers than either Los Angeles County or the state of California. Approximately 70% of Glendale Unified students are non-native English speakers, compared to 55% for Los Angeles County and 40% for California. This pattern has been consistent for the past decade.

Armenian and Spanish are the most common native languages of Glendale Unified School District English Learners. By grade 12, 332 Armenian speakers, 130 Spanish speakers, and 52 Korean speakers were classified as English Learners.

Before 1982, community college students were not allowed to attend a college outside their district of residence without special permission. After the passage of Prop. 13, the state allowed students to attend any community college district. As a result, about 53% of Glendale College students reside outside the Glendale Community College District. The graph below shows the history of freshmen entering GCC from the college's three major feeder districts.

1.02.03. California High School Exit Exam Results

The California High School Exit Examination (CAHSEE) consists of a mathematics test and an English language arts (ELA) test. Students may take the exam starting in grade 10. If they do not pass all parts of both tests, they may retake those parts not passed at another administration of the exam. The table below shows the percentage of passing administrations of the exam for students from GCC's major feeder high schools.

2.01. Enrollment & Demographics

2.01.01. Credit & Non-Credit Enrollment Trends

Mirroring California's budget difficulties, both credit and non-credit enrollment decreased from 2001-2002 to 2003-2004. Historically, annual enrollment has followed cycles of growth and decline. The last two peaks were in 1991-1992 and 2001-2002.

California community colleges receive apportionment funding from the state based on reported Full-Time Equivalent Students (FTES) served. Funding is received only for students who are residents of the state. The table below shows FTES claimed by the college for the past three years.

Fall semester enrollment has followed annual enrollment and tends to be higher than Spring semester enrollment. While the enrollment of full-time credit students has remained steady, much of the growth since 2000 is attributable to an increase in the number of part-time credit students.

2.01.02. Credit Student Demographics

Credit student demographics have remained relatively stable for the past five years. Female students outnumber males by 60% to 40%, and over half of all credit students are under age 25.

With class cuts, the number of continuing students has increased relative to new and returning students.

Mirroring a general trend in higher education, GCC serves more female students than male students. The ratio has been 60% female to 40% female since the mid 1990s. In the late 1990s, the ratio was approximately 50% to 50% for younger students, but older students were more likely to be female. Since 2000, females have outnumbered males in all age groups.

The graph below shows the age distribution of credit students. Although the average age of students is between 27 and 28 years, the college serves relatively few students in that age group. Because the distribution is skewed, the median age (23 years) is a more accurate estimate of the student population's age. About one-third of all credit students are under age 21.

The ethnic distribution of credit students changed dramatically with the waves of immigrants to Glendale in the 1980s, but ethnicity has been relatively stable since the mid 1990s. The percentage of credit students of Armenian origin has increased somewhat, from 29% to 32%, in the past three years; the percentage of credit students of European origin ("Anglos") has decreased somewhat in the same time period.

According to student surveys, approximately 70% of credit students work. About 17% work at least 40 paid hours per week, and about 40% work between 20 and 39 paid hours per week. About 2% of credit students (300 per semester) are full-time students and work at least 40 hours per week.

Less than half of all credit students reside in the Glendale Community College District. About 42% reside in the Los Angeles Community College District, 7% reside in other community college districts in California (including the Pasadena, Venture, Santa Clarita, and Santa Monica districts), and 3% are international students.

Most credit students (about 60%) are United States citizens. Nearly 20% are permanent residents. The percentage of permanent residents increased from the mid 1980s through about 1996, then began to decrease.

A majority of credit students (nearly 70%) are part-time students, attempting fewer than 12 units in a semester. The average student attempts about 9 units in a semester and completes about 6 units. The percentage of full-time students has increased somewhat in the past three years, and the percentage of students attempting under 6 units has decreased.

2.01.03. Non-Credit Student Demographics

Non-credit enrollment does not require a standardized student application where definitive information about the student is collected. Student information is collected with each class registration, resulting in more variation and inaccuracy than credit student information.

The gender difference in the non-credit student population is more extreme than that in the credit student population. Female students in the non-credit program outnumber male students by a ratio of about 70% to 30%.

Non-credit students tend to be older than credit students. The median age of non-credit students was 39 years in Fall 2003, compared to 28 years for credit students. The mean age of non-credit students has decreased from 48 years in 1995 to 41 years in 2003.

The ethnicity of the non-credit population parallels that of the credit population. Armenian students make up about 35% of non-credit students, and Caucasian students of European descent ("Anglos") make up about 17%. The Latino non-credit population, which decreased to 19% in 2001, has recently increased to 23%. As the graph below shows, non-credit enrollment of most ethnic groups has remained flat, but growth in the early 2000s was driven by increasing numbers of Armenian students.

2.02.02. Financial Aid

Annually, about 40% of credit students receive some form of financial aid. The most frequently used category of financial aid is the Board of Governors (BOG) waiver, which waives enrollment and health services fees and is available to California residents demonstrating financial need. Nearly 40% of students receive BOG waivers every year.

2.02.03. Student Access to Technology

The college has tracked Internet access since 1996. Almost 90% of credit students report that they have Internet access from home.

2.02.04. Programs Designed to Increase Access & Success

Glendale College offers many services to students. Every three years, the annual Spring Student Survey asks students to rate their experiences with the available services. The table below shows recognition of services, use of services, and satisfaction with services, measured by the survey. Recognition is the percentage of students reporting they have heard of the service; use is the percentage of students reporting they have used the service; satisfaction is the percentage of service users who report the service was helpful or very helpful.

2.02.05. Precollegiate Basic Skills Offerings & Outcomes

Precollegiate basic skills courses are defined by Title 5 of the California Code of Regulations as courses in reading, writing, computation, and English as a Second Language designated by the college as credit, non-degree applicable courses. In 2003-2004, the following courses were considered precollegiate basic skills courses: ENGL 150, 151, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, and 191; ESL 111, 115, 116, 117, 118, 125, 127, and 123; and MATH 155, 190, and 255.

The table below shows enrollments, retention rates, and success rates for precollegiate basic skills courses.

2.03. Class Availability & Scheduling

2.03.01. Student Satisfaction with Course Scheduling

Satisfaction with scheduling and class availability have mirrored the state's budget difficulties and the subsequent class cuts. According to student surveys, approximately 20% of credit students have historically reported problems getting classes; the number increased to 42% in Spring 2003, then decreased to 38% in Spring 2004. The most commonly reported problems are that a class the student needed was full, and that two classes the student needed were scheduled at the same time.

2.03.02. Classroom Occupation, Availability & Fill Rate

Classroom occupation can be presented as "scheduling density," or the number of class sections scheduled to begin during each available time block of the day. The figure below shows overall scheduling density for the past three Fall semesters. For Fall 2003, the highest number of class sections is scheduled to begin between 6:00 pm and 6:59 pm (aggregating across days of the week). In the figure, the darkest shading indicates that at least 65% of the highest number of sections is scheduled to begin in that time block. No shading indicates that 20% or less of the highest number of sections is scheduled to begin in that time block. Classrooms are occupied most during time blocks with dark shading, and are occupied least during time blocks with no shading.

3.01. Student & Course Outcomes

3.01.01. Enrollment, Retention, and Success

For most classes, the college is funded by the number of enrollments active on census date. The table below shows census enrollments, retention rates, and success rates by division. Retention rate is defined as the percentage of census enrollments resulting in a grade other than W (withdrawal). Success rate is defined as the percentage of census enrollments resulting in a grade of A, B, C, or CR (credit). Note that W's are included as failures in the success rate calculation.

The graph below shows historical census enrollments, retention rate, and success rate for all credit classes. Success and retention increased somewhat between 1991-1992 and 1992-1993, but has remained flat since 1993-1994.

Non-credit classes are funded by the positive attendance accounting method, in which hours of attendance are recorded. One Full-Time Equivalent Student (FTES) is equivalent to 525 hours of attendance. In 2003-2004, the non-credit program counted over 1,300,000 hours of attendance.

The above table includes Potential Issues for Equity (PIE) markers: +, -, and  $\sqrt{.}$  A minus sign indicates that the measure for the specified group is less than 80% of the college average. A plus sign indicates that the measure is above the college average, and a check indicates the measure is between the college average and 80% of the college average.

3.01.02. Success of Students Receiving Additional Services

Students completing orientation and their Student Educational Plans (SEPs) have higher success and persistence rates than students who do not complete these activities. However, it is important to note that differences between the student groups (goals, motivation, etc.) probably contribute to the greater success. The success difference cannot be attributed solely to the completion of orientation and an SEP.

The college offers many nontraditional learning opportunities. The table below shows the course success and persistence rates of students completing service learning hours through the college Service Learning Center. It also shows course success and persistence rates of students enrolled in classes offering Supplemental Instruction (SI).

3.01.03. Student Satisfaction

Every Spring semester, the college conducts a student survey which includes evaluations of student satisfaction. The following table shows results most relevant to the Key Performance Indicators of the college Master Plan.

3.02. Educational Goals

3.02.01. Student Characteristics by Educational Goal

About half of all credit students indicate that their goal is to transfer (with or without an associate's degree). This represents a small decrease from the mid 1990s, when nearly 55% of credit students indicated a transfer goal.

About 17% of credit students have a vocational goal; this represents a small drop from about 20% in 1998. The number of students whose goal is an associate's degree (without transfer) has increased somewhat, from 9% in 1995 to 13% in 2003.

The tables below show student ethnicity by credit educational goal. Students whose goal is transfer tend to mirror the ethnic diversity of the credit student population. Vocational students are somewhat more likely to be Anglo than the overall credit population. Educational development students are much more likely to be Anglo than students with other educational goals.

Time between entry and degree completion has decreased slightly in the past three years. The average time between entry and AA completion was 5.1 years for degrees completed in 2003-2004, representing a decrease from over 6 years in the mid 1990s. Time to AS degrees and certificates has also decreased.

The graphs below show success benchmarks for students entering GCC as first-time college students in Fall 2000. The percentage of entering students reaching each benchmark within four years is shown. Transfer prepared students have completed at least 56 UC/CSU transferable units with a GPA of 2.0 or higher in those units. Transfer ready students are transfer prepared, have passed English 101, and have passed a transferable Math course. (Note that the two student groups overlap: students with a goal of transfer with an AA are included in both groups.)

3.03.02. Continuing and Community Education Student Completion

The GCC Continuing and Community Education department offers adult high school diplomas and General Education Development (GED) testing. The following table shows the number of student completions in non-credit areas.

CASAS (Comprehensive Adult Student Assessment System) tests are used to assess student competencies in several areas, including ESL. CASAS tests are also used to document student progress for CalWORKs recipients.

3.03.03. Transfer

A primary part of the college's mission is to prepare students for transfer to four-year institutions. The number of students transferring from GCC has fluctuated in the past 15 years, but has been increasing since 1998. Transfers to UC institutions have increased almost 25% since 1998-1999.

* Transfers to independent institutions are reported for students entering in the Fall semester only. Transfers to UC and CSU institutions are reported for students entering at any time during the academic year. Data on transfers to independent institutions have not been made available yet for 2002-2003.

The table below shows the number of transfer students to UC and CSU institutions. Most of GCC's transfer students transfer to CSU Northridge and CSU Los Angeles.

The California State University makes information available about transfer student performance at the CSU. Transfer students from GCC generally attain approximately the same GPA at the CSU as the average community college transfer student.

3.03.04. Partnership for Excellence Goals

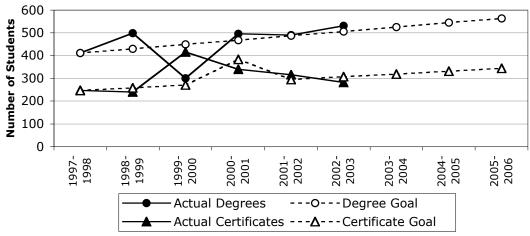

The Partnership for Excellence (PFE) was an agreement between the California Community Colleges and the California state legislature which provided increased funding in order to improve student success in five areas: transfer, degrees and certificates, successful course completion, workforce development, and basic skills improvement. The graphs below show GCC's progress toward statewide goals, assuming GCC's percentage growth should match the statewide percentage growth goal.

3.03.05. Time to Goal Completion (Student Right-to-Know Data)

The tables below show Student Right-to-Know data, made publicly available by the college and by the Chancellor's Office. Each year, the cohort of entering, full-time, degree-seeking students is identified and tracked for three years to determine the percentage of the cohort completing a goal. By definition, Student Right-to-Know "completers" are those students who have completed a degree or certificate, or who have become transfer prepared by completing at least 56 transferable units with a GPA of 2.0 in those units. (Note: The methodology used to define the cohort changed for the Fall 2000 cohort, resulting in a larger entering cohort for Glendale.)

"Transfers Out" refers to students who transferred to a four-year institution or to a California community college. The percentage of transfers out is sometimes reported as a transfer rate. It is a flawed measure of transfer because it counts only non-completing students (ignoring those students the college has successfully prepared for transfer) and it includes "transfers" to other community colleges.

3.03.06. Workforce Placement of Students in Vocational Programs

The state of California tracks students who complete community college vocational programs into the workforce. The table below shows workforce placement (employment in the first year after college, also including transfer to a UC or CSU institution) and workforce retention (employment for three consecutive quarters after initial employment). The placement and retention rates are measured for "leavers & completers," those students who completed at least one occupational course and earned at least 12 units in a vocational program area, or who earned a vocational degree or certificate, and who are not still enrolled at a community college.

The state has defined performance goals for placement and retention rates. These goals, and the differences between the goals and GCC's rates, are shown in the table. All data are aggregated across all vocational programs at GCC. In the table, "n.r." means not reported.

4.01.02. Workload

The standard measure of faculty workload is called load and is defined as Weekly Student Contact Hours (WSCH) divided by Full-Time Equivalent Faculty (FTEF). The following table shows instructional load by credit division. Because of some inflexibility in the coding of FTEF for certain lab classes, the FTEF reported in the Biology and Physical Sciences divisions are incorrect. Also note that the WSCH data for the load calculation includes enrollments in classes with weekly, daily, and positive attendance accounting methods.

5.02.02. Expenditure Comparison to Statewide Averages

The following table shows categories of general fund expenditures. In general, GCC spends a slightly greater percentage of the general fund on salaries and a slightly smaller percentage on benefits, supplies, and materials than the statewide average. In 2002-2003, GCC spent 40% of general fund expenditures on administrative and support functions, compared to a statewide average of 45%.

5.03. Funded and Unfunded FTES

5.03.01. Funded and Unfunded FTES

The college frequently serves more students than the state funds. The following graph shows the number of Full-Time Equivalent Students (FTES) generated by resident students and the number reported to the state for funding. The difference is "overcap," unfunded, resident FTES.

Glendale Community College Campus Profile 2004

Appendix KEY PERFORMANCE INDICATORS

Ĵ

Key Performance Indicators

As part of its Master Plan, GCC has defined 10 goals, each including Key Performance Indicators (KPIs). The Campus Profile includes information addressing many of the KPIs.

Goal One: Focus the educational program on core competencies throughout the curriculum

KPI 1-1: Percentage of students with at least 45 units who meet the following competency requirements: reading, writing, critical thinking, quantitative reasoning, oral communication, information competency, study skills

Goal Two: Increase the quantity and variety of learning opportunities that promote student success

- KPI 2-1: Course success rates overall and in sections using various learning opportunities [page 26]
- KPI 2-2: Persistence rates overall and in sections using various learning opportunities [page 26]
- KPI 2-3: Completion rates overall and in sections using various learning opportunities
- KPI 2-4: Satisfaction of students overall and in sections using various learning opportunities
- KPI 2-5: Faculty satisfaction with technological resources and support available for instruction

Goal Three: Make the college more responsive to student needs

- KPI 3-1: Student satisfaction with course scheduling [page 20]
- KPI 3-2: Percentage of students reporting no conflict in class schedules [page 20]
- KPI 3-3: Percentage of students reporting no problem with class availability [page 20]
- KPI 3-4: Student time to goal completion [pages 36, 42]
- KPI 3-5: Average ratings of student satisfaction with campus friendliness [page 27]
- KPI 3-6: Ratings of GCC student engagement using the National Survey of Student Engagement

Goal Four: Streamline the delivery of student services and increase student success by focusing on preventive services

- KPI 4-1: Success and persistence rates of students completing orientation [page 26]
- KPI 4-2: Success and persistence rates of students completing assessment [page 26]
- KPI 4-3: Success and persistence rates of P1 (first semester on probation) students receiving preventive interventions
- KPI 4-5: Satisfaction of students with student services as measured through surveys and focus groups [page 18]

Goal Five: Expand educational programs and services through the South Glendale complex

- KPI 5-1: Number student-hours served per semester at the South Glendale complex [page 24]
- KPI 5-2: Success rate in courses taught at the South Glendale complex
- KPI 5-3: Number of GCC non-credit students receiving GEDs and/or skills awards per semester [page 37]
- KPI 5-4: Percentage of GCC non-credit students taking GCC credit courses concurrently or the following semester [page 19]
- KPI 5-5: Student satisfaction with services offered at the South Glendale complex

Goal Six: Increase collaboration with the K-12 system and the college's GED program to provide a seamless transition from high school to college

- KPI 6-1: Initial placement of students coming from high schools through outreach partnerships with the college or through the college's GED program
- KPI 6-2: First semester success rates of students coming from the college's GED program or from high schools involved in outreach partnerships
- KPI 6-3: Student satisfaction with transition from high school or GED to college [page 27]

Goal Seven: Increase faculty and staff excellence in all aspects of college operations

- KPI 7-1: Administration, faculty, and staff satisfaction with staff development activities and offerings
- KPI 7-2: Faculty satisfaction with division life
- KPI 7-3: Administration, faculty, and staff satisfaction with governance leadership and effectiveness
- KPI 7-4: Administration, faculty, and staff satisfaction with the role of evaluation and recognition in encouraging excellence
- KPI 7-5: Administration, faculty, and staff satisfaction with hiring procedures
- KPI 7-6: Administration, faculty, and staff satisfaction with IT training, assistance, and support

Goal Eight: Improve the efficiency of administrative services and the revenue generation ability of the college

- KPI 8-1: Amount of revenues generated by grants and business partnerships
- KPI 8-2: Percentage of technology purchases that include provision for Total Cost of Ownership
- KPI 8-3: Decrease in operating costs due to reengineered processes and ERP implementation
- KPI 8-4: Employee satisfaction with the efficiency of administrative services

Goal Nine: Improve the data collection and integration of the planning and budgeting process

- KPI 9-1: Administration, faculty, and staff satisfaction with the integration between research planning and budgeting
- KPI 9-2: Administration, faculty, and staff satisfaction with the availability of necessary data
- KPI 9-3: Percentage of Master Plan KPIs measured
- KPI 9-4: Administration, faculty, and staff satisfaction with the integration between facilities planning and educational planning

Goal Ten: Upgrade the college's information technology infrastructure and its management information system

- KPI 10-1: Administration, faculty, staff, and student satisfaction with the ERP system
- KPI 10-2:Administration, faculty, staff, and student satisfaction with network availability, performance, and security
