In 2016, Nare Garibyan (Counseling) self-published her first poetry collection, When Ruins Speak: A Journey of Poems. It is about a 2005 trip she took to Eastern Turkey, which used to be part of historic Armenia. After the Armenian Genocide, these areas were cleared out of all Armenians. When she visited in 2005, the villages and homes in the areas where Armenians used to live were left the way they were in 1915. Nare's poetry collection expresses her feelings and impressions.
