USC Verdugo Hills Hospital's Nurse Residency Program is an innovative competency and simulation-based program that is six months in length. The program supports both new graduate nurses and experienced nurses transitioning into the acute care settings. We honor and respect the experiences each nurse brings; therefore the program is tailored to meet each nurse's unique clinical and professional development needs. Our competitive program is only offered twice per year.

For this Nurse Residency Program, beginning March 2023, the following specialties are available:
